

You may have seen the first two parts of the three-part series on the BBC – ‘Tiger-spy in the Jungle’, with David Attenborough. The BBC tracked tigers using secret cameras hidden in elephants’ trunks.

David Attenborough says, ‘The tiger is not only the world’s favourite wild animal but also one of the rarest’.

I am delighted to bring you a new tour which includes two key national parks for tigers in India: Pench and Kanha.

This is an extremely good value 7-night tour with return flights to Delhi with award-winning Jet Airways.

Days 2 & 3 Delhi

Enjoy a city tour of Old and modern Delhi.

Delhi stands as the capital of modern India. Here you can see the ming and new India, the ancient and the modern.

Days 4 & 5 Pench

Located on a lovely stream surrounded by forest, Pench offers a beautiful experience of one of India's rich yet lesser-known Parks. typical central Indian teak jungle, with hilly terrain and several jungle streams, and it supports a rich variety of wildlife, including the leopard, wild dog, gaur sambar, chital and brilliant birdlife. The park's open habitat not only lends itself well to wildlife viewing, but offers striking views of the area's sheer beauty.

Game drives and full board are included.

Days 6 & 7 Kanha

Kanha National Park is one of the most well-known tiger reserves worldwide. It covers a large area. Kanha is also famous for animal conservation efforts made in collaboration and cooperation with the local resident communities. One of the famous success stories of the park is the survival of the Barasingha (deer) population in the park, which went down to as low as 66 animals in 1970 from the early 1900s and which, through huge efforts, has now revived to a respectable level.

Game drives and full board are included.
